

ADVANCE NOTICE

Education for Shared Values for Intercultural and Inter-religious Understanding: Education Contributing to the Prevention of Extremism and Terrorism

Curriculum Design: Innovative and Effective Strategies

28 November – 2 December 2004

Union Hall, University of Adelaide, South Australia

Featuring international experts and researchers from UNESCO and its partners, academics and leaders of world faiths with Keynote Speakers:

Dr. Karan Singh, Member of Indian Parliament and member of the Delors Commission which produced "Learning – The treasure Within"

Ms Joy Pigozzi, Head Quality Education Directorate UNESCO Paris.

Dr. Celia Braslavsky, Head International Bureau of Education Geneva.

Professor Samuel Lee, Head APCEIU, Korea. And others being negotiated.

Purpose: To bring together key educators, leaders and student representatives in the Asia-Pacific region, to develop innovative, effective curricula, pedagogies and teaching/learning strategies, to promote intercultural and inter-religious understanding towards peace through shared values. The proposed starting point for practical workshop discussions will be successful international examples outlined in pre-conference papers.

Participants: Religious and community leaders, leading academics, teachers, student representatives, teacher educators, curriculum developers, researchers and Policy makers.

Conference Enquiries: Joy de Leo at Deleo.Joy@saugov.sa.gov.au

Conference Website: www.edna.edu.au/unesco